PRESIDENT'S DAY, APRIL 30

This paper certainly does not make a policy of falling in with the ideas of William Randolph Hearst. But from the very capable pen of this unusual group of papers has come a splendid suggestion, with which we heartily concur. April 30 has been set aside as "PRESIDENT'S DAY"—following agitation in the Hearst papers. The idea has swept the nation and we hope that of observing the day will be found here.

We suggest the flying of bunting and flags, programs in schools, prayer in churches and new dedication on the part of the people to support the most outstanding president we have had since 1918.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is a great leader. He is a bold and fearless champion. He pilots a steady progress toward prosperity. Let's say with him and fight depression as we didn't have the heart to before!

SPRINGTIME IN APPOMATTOX

April has come and about gone. Appomattox has been visited by Spring. Its fields are green and fresh, upturning to the eternal skies.

It was a similar Spring, 68 years ago, when Lee and Grant met here. The scenes of their meeting are much the same today as then.

People from all over the nation will gladly come here to see the scene of the Surrender. The editor read last week of 15,000 people visiting one of Virginia's great shrines Easter week-end. The same story could have gone out from here—IF.

IF That's to date, the tragic word of Appomattox. IF we had a monument or a restoration at the Old Court House! IF we had a museum of relics for tourists to see! IF we had a national park here! IF we had a live chamber of commerce to send out bulletins, pamphlets and publicity to automobile and tourists clubs over the nation! IF we had hotel and tourist home accommodations for several thousand people each week-end! IF.

Spring in Appomattox, just such a Spring as Lee and Grant saw here, makes us wish that that vast stream of tourist money could be brought into the pockets of our townpeople.

PRICES UP—What About Cars?

Prices have been lower this year than at any time since the World War. It is nothing short of amazing, the bargains that may be purchased.

But, the low prices have been confined to a few fields. Take the operating expense of automobiles, for example.

The editor's car, as only one case, cost more money to operate during the past 12 months than he ever remembers. Gasoline has decreased but very little, if any, and a new federal tax on it, takes as much from my pocket as ever. Then state enforced car inspections make me dig down into my pockets and another inspection is soon to arrive—with more expense. License cost has not gone down, neither town nor state—very little about the car has gone down in price. We dread to think of car expenses going up along with the current drive that way, because car prices never came down much—I mean operating expenses.

COURAGE NOW AS THEN

May the courage of America's forefathers always assert itself as it has in meeting the situation whereby it was necessary for us to again express confidence in our president, our country and our municipality. A new sense of responsibility has been imposed upon the officers and directors of this institution, in acknowledging the endorsements of their fellow citizens in this institution. We shall strive to merit that confidence and respect.

Drivers Must Pay Fees By Mid-Night Sunday

As officials of the State Division of Motor Vehicles prepare for the last minute rush of Virginians for 1933 license tags, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads announces that in 1932 auto license registrations in this State declined only 2.3 per cent as compared with a national average of 6.5 per cent.

It was also shown that in 1932 Virginia stood first in the list of States with a decline less than that of any of the more purely agricultural or industrial States.

The division tag windows will close at the usual Saturday closing hour, 12:30 P. M., and those of the 107 sub-stations throughout the state will close at 5 P. M.

Tags purchased in January 1932, will have been in use for sixteen months. Extension of the time on 1932 license has caused the state to make temporary loans in anticipation of the usual receipts from this source.

Authorities at Capitol yesterday said there was no hope for further lawful use of the old tags.
